ABOUT OUR SHORT COURSES

London College of Communication is a pioneer in design and media education. Our short courses provide an opportunity to connect with expert educators and like-minded learners on our lively site in central London.

Our specialist areas include advertising, digital marketing, filmmaking, graphic and spatial design, journalism, photography and publishing.

Our courses reflect the breadth of current multimedia convergence. We are also proud to preserve and pass on traditional craft techniques.

Each course is designed to provide a balance of technical know-how and creative thinking, led by our team of expert academic and industry-focused tutors. Practical and hands-on, our courses are equally suited to career progression and personal development.

WHAT WE TEACH

Innovation combined with flexibility, LCC short courses range from one-day sessions to three-week summer schools. They run during evenings, weekends and College holidays.

We believe in making by doing, which is why we share our expertise and top-end facilities through an accessible short course framework.

Armed with a Letterpress studio, industry-standard photography studios, and some of the finest bookbinding and screen-printing studios in Europe, our cutting-edge facilities for analogue design and media techniques set us apart from other institutions.

We offer over 100 courses in subjects including:

- Adobe Creative Suite and Apple Software
- Advertising, Marketing, PR and Events
- Digital and Interactive Design
- Filmmaking and Photography
- Graphic Design
- Journalism
- Printing and Publishing
- Spatial and Surface Design

Creative industries are fluid in nature and our syllabus is responsive to this ever-changing landscape.

We regularly create new courses, so please contact us should you wish to study a course we don't already list.

WHO ARE THEY FOR?

LCC is a hub of creative knowledge and a welcoming environment for people of all ages from around the world. We pride ourselves on being inclusive and student-focused, placing your experience front and centre.

Previous course attendees:

Freelancers and business owners

We have assisted people at the early stages of start-ups in addition to those who have been going for a while. Our courses provide you with an opportunity to refine your skills, acquire new knowledge and market yourself or your company.

Design or media professionals

We have recently welcomed delegates from Channel 4, EMAP Publishing and Universal Music Group. In addition to courses in marketing strategy and design practices, we offer courses that will get you up-to-date with the latest software packages.

Students

We welcome students from the UK and abroad. Our short courses are particularly helpful if you are interested in concentrating on a specific area, all while being immersed in one of the most engaging cities in the world. Our portfolio courses help you create, edit and present your work. These courses are ideal if you're planning to apply for further study.

Craft practitioners

The expertise of our staff and our premium facilities give you the chance to try something completely new or to elevate your practice to a higher level. When you study with us, you will study alongside people who share your passion – who knows where this could lead?

Professional training

LCC is a cross-disciplinary powerhouse with a multitude of connections to industry. Through the expertise of our established practitioners, we deliver focused and high-value training for a variety of organisations.

We can provide your business with an adapted version of an existing course or a bespoke programme including workshops, lectures and visits to high-profile and relevant organisations within the UK. Training can be a condensed one-day event or a study tour of several weeks, incorporating guest speakers and visits to industry.

Companies we have delivered training to include:

- Mizuho Bank, UK
- Camden Council, UK
- The African Union, Ethiopia
- Phoenix Publishing and Media Group, China
- Institute for Information Industry, Taiwan.
