Undergraduate courses 2020/21

Design

BA (Hons) Design for Theatre and Live Event Experience Design

This programme is central to the conceptual and managerial practices relating to design, art direction and creative direction. The course navigates the concepts and tools of research and design methods, providing you with the opportunity to develop your understanding of application in graphic, design, imaging, photography, and interaction design.

BA (Hons) Design for Brand Spaces

Become a leader in the field of spatial experience design. This professionally focused design course will equip you with the specialist skills and knowledge to help shape the experience of live events. You’ll learn to design 3D experiences for a range of commercial and cultural public spaces. You’ll also explore cutting-edge and sustainable practices while developing your professional and international networks.

BA (Hons) Design Management

BA (Hons) Design Management offers a creative and experimental approach to the study of design, problem-solving, business and marketing, global cultures, innovation and sustainability. We apply design-thinking to develop ideas, strategies, concepts and designs that foster a culture of innovation, insight, collaboration, agility, risk and informed intelligence. With a highly employable student body, we are recognised designers, researchers, thinkers, dreamers and makers, innovators, facilitators, provocateurs. We develop creative, strategic, cultural entrepreneurs.

BA (Hons) Graphic and Media Design

This course builds on the thinking of excellence in design and communication at London College of Communication, standing at the core of the creative industries and the future of experience design. A range of experimental processes, platforms and theories mean that you will build a portfolio that demonstrates rigorous design skills and innovative practice. You’ll have the opportunity to take an optional year in industry to expand your network, gain some experience and open up career opportunities.

BA (Hons) Graphic Branding and Identity

This course is designed to create strategic thinkers and creative communicators. The course will equip you with the tools to become a professional practitioner within this ever-expanding industry. You will gain insights into the latest concepts of the subject, from historical, social and cultural contexts, through design practices to visual and brand identity representations.

BA (Hons) Illustration and Visual Media

This course is designed to develop highly creative and innovative artists who are keen to take on the world with their skills. The course offers the chance for you to build knowledge and expertise in the field of design, while exploring future directions. You will develop your skills in a range of drawing and painting techniques, alongside learning digital practices and production. You will be encouraged to develop your own authentic voice, as you expand your practice into multimedia communication. You will gain critical thinking and writing skills to enable you to create a body of work across digital media, and you will be able to develop your own portfolio that is suited to your skills.

BA (Hons) Illustration and Documentary Photography

London College of Communication is an institution that is deeply committed to a distinctive approach to illustration. This new, award-winning course equips you with the skills to create work that is both innovative and inspiring. It has been designed to navigate the complex relationship between the creative processes of idea generation and delivery. You will learn how to develop and deliver your own personal vision to a competitive market, with a focus on traditional and digital media. You will have the opportunity to develop your own creative identity and explore new ways of working with different media. This course will equip you with the skills to work in a range of professional contexts, from illustration to graphic design, alongside other forms of creative expression.
