ANIMALS ON UNIVERSITY OF THE ARTS LONDON SITES

Animals (or livestock of any kind) are not normally allowed on University sites. This standard is intended primarily to cover situations where an animal is brought on site for up to one day only for specific purposes for which the Dean has given permission. e.g. as a photographic model. The guidelines below must be followed at all times:

Animals remain the direct responsibility of the person bringing them on site, and must be booked in and out of the premises with Security to whom advance notice should be given.

At all times the animal remains on site due care must be taken for its welfare and security; and for the safety of staff, students and visitors.

In the case of species which can transmit diseases to humans (e.g. parrots and psittacosis) the person in charge of the animal must provide a written risk assessment listing the known hazards and appropriate control measures.

a) Guide Dogs for the Blind Guide Dogs for the Blind are welcome on University sites. Staff and students are asked to give any help which the handler may require to ensure the animal's welfare. Guide Dogs are permitted in any area where the handler normally has access.

b) Security Dog Patrols
Dogs under the control of an authorised handler may be deployed from time to time under the direction of the Security Manager.
