3 Guidance for students

4 Grade criteria

5 Grade exemplification
The qualifications will require students to develop a coherent and effective working methodology, through immersion, reiteration and reinforcement, which will enable them to react positively and creatively across a diverse range of assignments and creative activities.

The final unit of the Extended Diploma, available at Levels 3 and 4, will require the student, particularly at Level 4, to demonstrate the independent capacity to self-initiate, research, analyse, organise, reflect and evaluate commensurate with study in higher education.

Study for the qualifications is not time constrained but will normally be over a period of one year for the Diploma and two years for the Extended Diploma. The structure of the qualifications, with units linked to provide coherence, will allow students to synthesise newly acquired practical skills with theoretical knowledge and understanding as they explore their aptitude and ambition and the particular characteristics of a broad range of performing and production arts disciplines. Students will be encouraged to recognise not only the unique characteristics of different disciplines, but also the dynamic and potentially innovative relationships between those disciplines.

The qualifications will encourage recognition of the broader context within which the performing and production arts industries operate and the necessity to develop transferable skills to ensure an effective contribution to both the immediate and future development of those industries.

The qualifications are characterised by experiential, experimental and integrated learning, relying on the application and transfer of recognised skills, whilst valuing the accidental and novel results that can occur in both individual and collaborative practice, and recognising common principles and distinctive characteristics within the field of performing and production arts.

TQT: Total Qualification Time
TUT: Total Unit Time
GLH: Guided Learning Hours
Unit 1 will provide the student with an introduction to a range of activities essential to the development and delivery of a performance. It will introduce the basic elements of drama, dance and music, the process of rehearsal, production and delivery of a performance, and impart an understanding of performing arts as a collaborative activity.

Unit 2 will provide the student with an introduction to oral, written and visual communication as integral to activities in the performing arts. The student will explore and analyse meaning and how to convey a message to an audience through voice and performance.

Unit 3 will provide the student with an introduction to the diversity of roles, responsibilities, employment and progression opportunities available within the sector. It will also introduce the student to the importance of health and safety as integral to the performer and production, and an understanding of the personal and professional characteristics needed for a career in the performing arts.

Unit 4 will provide the student with an introduction to the investigation of both historical and contemporary context. Through a thematic approach to the subject the student will research a broad range of perspectives that influence the development of ideas within the performing arts.

Units 5–7 will require the student to apply their newly acquired skills, knowledge and understanding in a series of more complex and demanding assignments in production, performance and design. Whilst beginning to explore the unique characteristics of specific performing arts activities, they will also be encouraged to recognise and understand the shared values uniting them.

Unit 5 will provide the student with an opportunity to integrate knowledge and understanding acquired in Units 1–4, and to explore the specific skills and attributes required for production and design in the performing arts.

Unit 6 will provide the student with an opportunity to integrate knowledge and understanding acquired in Units 1–4, and to explore the specific skills and attributes required for performance in the performing arts.

Unit 7 will provide the student with an opportunity to integrate knowledge and understanding acquired in Units 1–4, and to explore the specific skills and attributes required for their own personal practice.

Unit 8 as the summative and graded unit at the end of the one year Diploma qualification will provide the student with a measure of self directed learning in the completion of a substantial performing arts project. The unit will also provide an opportunity for the student to confirm continuation to year two of the Extended Diploma or to an alternative progression route.

Unit 8 will require the student to make use of the skills, knowledge and understanding developed in Units 5–7 to complete a collaborative project. It will provide the student with a measure of self-directed learning, and an opportunity to begin to clarify their longer-term goals through their choice of an activity to explore in greater depth.
Level 3 Extended Diploma in Performing & Production Arts

The qualification will be delivered through 12 units over a nominal two-year period. Units 1–8 are described on the previous page.

Units 9–11 will provide the student with more focussed opportunities to explore activities and competencies within the performing arts, encouraging a personal dialogue in terms of ambitions, preferences and future progression opportunities. The student will take increasing responsibility for their own learning and personal ambitions.

Unit 9 will require the student, to enter into a more formal dialogue of personal interrogation and diagnosis designed to identify strengths, enthusiasms and ambitions within a specific pathway. The unit will enable the student to develop the requisite artistic, professional and vocational skills necessary for progression within their chosen discipline.

Unit 10 will require the student, through a process of research, dialogue, reflection and evaluation, to identify and prepare for specific Higher Education or employment progression routes appropriate to their ambitions. The unit will enable the student to demonstrate the requisite practical, intellectual and communication skills necessary for progression.

Unit 11 will require the student to research and critically examine the influence of historical and contemporary contexts on the development of ideas and how this has informed their own practice. The unit will enable the student to demonstrate their understanding of the audience and to present the range of skills and knowledge acquired in their chosen discipline.

Unit 12 and Unit 13 will provide the student with opportunities to refine and demonstrate the skills, knowledge and understanding appropriate to their choice of future career path and entry to Higher Education or related employment. The student will be required to complete and present a substantial self-directed performing arts project. Units 12 and 13, which are achieved at Level 3 or Level 4 respectively, require the student to demonstrate a more in-depth knowledge and sophisticated understanding of their chosen discipline, and the means by which the audience for that activity can be reached and addressed.

Unit 12 provides an opportunity for the student to confirm their chosen specialism by engaging in activity related to their discipline(s) of choice. It is expected that they will take ownership of their learning by responding positively to the greater opportunities for individual expression and creativity afforded and demonstrate their ability to competently use the range of skills acquired throughout the course. Students will be expected to demonstrate the capacity to initiate, research, develop, implement, reflect and evaluate a substantial project in preparation for Higher Education or employment in their chosen performing arts discipline.

Unit 13 will require the student to affirm appropriate maturity by taking significantly greater responsibility for their own learning, demonstrating the capacity to initiate, research, develop, implement, reflect and evaluate a substantial project to a level commensurate with Level 4 prior to progression to Higher Education or employment in their chosen performing arts discipline.

1.5 Admissions

UAL Awarding Body recommends that students wishing to apply for the Level 3 Diploma and Extended Diploma in Performing and Production Arts have a minimum of:
- a UAL or equivalent Level 2 qualification or
- four GCSEs at grade C or grade 4 or above or
- an equivalent Level 2 functional skills qualification in English and Maths. Music or dance grades of the appropriate level may also be considered as suitable entry qualifications.

The Centre must provide students with opportunities for re-taking English and Maths. Students may be advised to complete these qualifications to ensure they have the best possible chance to progress to Higher Education.
1.6 Induction
Centres should provide the student with an induction to ensure that:

- A course handbook and any other supporting material to facilitate effective learning is provided.
- Timetabling arrangements are clarified.
- Academic tutorials systems are provided.
- Learning support needs are identified and provided as appropriate.
- Course structures and assessment requirements are explained for both internal assessment and external moderation.
- Health and safety regulations and procedures are explained.

Although the intention of the qualification is to give students access to a range of disciplines, it is entirely feasible that more specialist delivery models could be used to support the development of students who begin the course with a clearer understanding of the disciplines in which they want to work. Delivery could therefore occur in the context of a particular specialist area such as popular music or dance.

However, delivery should be coherent and integrated, progressively focused upon the relationship between the development of students’ work and the choices they make. As the programme progresses, students must be able to demonstrate achievement in learning in performing and production arts, paralleled by an increasing ability to coherently synthesise their experiences in preparation for the next stages of their professional development.

At all times students should be developing a skill base which acknowledges the interrelationship of the critical, theoretical and practical and the relationship between the development of their ideas and work and the choices they make regarding future progression.

Centres planning to deliver the qualification should familiarise themselves with the 12 individual unit specifications and support material including:

- Unit aims
- Unit learning outcomes
- Unit assessment criteria
- Unit indicative content
- Unit teaching strategies and learning activities
- Methods of assessment and evidence of achievement
- Necessary resources
- Grading criteria.

Not every centre will be expected to provide an identical programme, but will be required to cover the same learning outcomes and assessment criteria and ensure coherent sequencing, (patterns of teaching, learning and assessment which are continuous, interactive and integrative) rather than a fragmented approach across diverse disciplines.

1.7 Planning the programme
UAL Awarding Body supports innovative approaches to programme design and delivery within the broad context of the qualification aims and the learning outcomes and assessment criteria. The programme can therefore be delivered in a variety of ways.

The qualification has been written to support a range of delivery options. The twelve units focus on underpinning processes and principles and deliberately avoid the specification of detailed contexts in which delivery should occur.
1.8 Personal and professional development

The Diploma and Extended Diploma in Performing & Production Arts will provide students with opportunities to develop and utilise broad, transferable skills through encouraging an ethos of personal and professional development. Specifically, the programme will allow them to demonstrate:

- Initiative
- Independent inquiry
- Creative thinking
- Reflective learning
- Team-working
- Self management
- Effective participation
- Problem solving
- Communication.

1.9 Assessment

Units 1–7 of the Level 3 Diploma in Performing & Production Arts will be assessed and internally verified through students’ portfolios of evidence and are subject to UAL Awarding Body’s external quality assurance.

Unit 8, the final unit of the Level 3 Diploma in Performing & Production Arts and Units 12 and 13, the final units of the Level 3 Extended Diploma in Performing & Production Arts will be internally assessed, internally and externally moderated against the assessment and grading criteria for those units.

To achieve a Pass in any unit all assessment criteria must be met. Additionally, Units 8, 12 and 13 are graded, Pass, Merit or Distinction.

To achieve a Merit or Distinction, all grade criteria in the respective categories must be met in full. Failure to meet assessment criteria will lead to referral. Students are allowed one opportunity to redeem a referral.

1.10 Accreditation and funding

The qualifications have been accredited by Ofqual and sit on the Regulated Qualifications Framework (RQF).

The qualification accreditation number or QAN for the Level 3 Diploma in Performing & Production Arts is 601/1780/1

The qualification accreditation number or QAN for the Level 3 Extended Diploma in Performing & Production Arts is 601/1790/4

Centres can find full details of Education Funding Agency (EFA) and Skills Funding Agency (SFA) funding arrangements for the qualification on ‘the Hub’ Learning aims search facility.

The length and complexity of assignments and the specific production and design activities, with which students are asked to engage, are at the discretion of the centre.

This unit is designed to provide the student with an opportunity to integrate the knowledge, skills and understanding acquired in Units 1–4, and explore these through a series of more complex and demanding assignments in production and design.

This unit, which may be linked formally through a common assignment or assignments with Unit 6, is designed to provide a coherent body of knowledge that will enable the student to develop an understanding of the unique characteristics of specific performing arts activities whilst also recognising and understanding the shared values uniting them.

Learning for the unit may be delivered as part of a performance space, studio or workshop based project designed to strengthen student confidence and familiarity with the range of activities needed to effectively solve an identified production problem, this could take the form of concept, organisation or production design. Opportunities should be provided for students to articulate, record and present their solutions in both written and visual forms. Discussion groups, seminars, workshops and lectures may all be used to support the learning for this unit.

The learning for the unit may be delivered through assignments that encourage or require teamwork. It is recognised that team-working is common practice in much of the performing and production arts industry. The learning may be delivered through an externally set ‘live’ assignment, encouraging student understanding of commercial constraints and the need for a sound working methodology.

Students should be encouraged to relate their own learning to that of other artists and performers.

A range of activities might include:
- Exploration and interpretation of narrative and script writing
- Casting and rehearsal
- Exploration and interpretation of narrative
- Staging, design and direction
- Costume and set design
- Discussion groups to analyse the effectiveness of various alternative solutions
- Peer and self-assessment.

Methods of assessment and evidence of achievement

The unit will be internally assessed and moderated against the unit outcomes and assessment criteria.

Evidence is not prescribed. It could typically include:
- personal reflective journals, plans, visual development work, images, designs, media, artefacts, reports, extended writing, workbooks, notebooks, research portfolios, scripts, constructed objects, maquettes or digital recordings

This list is not exhaustive and students should be encouraged to develop the most appropriate evidence to demonstrate their achievement of the unit learning outcomes and assessment criteria.

Additional information

Centres must have the physical resources to successfully implement the programme including appropriately equipped and updated rehearsal studios and workshops, IT facilities and information and research sources. Centres must provide an appropriate level of access to dedicated general studios and an adequate flexible or open access provision in more specialist areas.

Indicative content, teaching strategies and learning activities
Centres delivering the qualification should design activities and assignments that will provide the learning necessary to enable the student to achieve the assessment criteria. The length and complexity of assignments, and the specific activities with which students are asked to engage, are at the discretion of the centre.

This unit is designed to provide an opportunity for the student to use the skills and knowledge developed in previous units and will enable the student to demonstrate their understanding of the range of activities, personal skills and elements used in production and performance, through the process of collaboration on a performance project. The learning for this unit should be structured to allow students the opportunity to exercise a degree of self-direction in developing their ideas within specified constraints.

It will be important for centres to provide a structure that is appropriately supportive whilst encouraging student ambition and initiative. Good practice will ensure that students are provided with an opportunity to discuss their intentions and proposed contributions with their peers and delivery staff, prior to making a commitment to a coherent proposal. It is important that students recognise the value of communication, with both their peers and professional staff in the analysis and evaluation of their ideas and ambitions. Students should be encouraged to recognise that they will need to be realistic in terms of achievable goals, material resources and time-management. The centre should determine the format of the project and the proposal.

Individual responsibilities and contributions to the project will need to be clearly identifiable. The unit provides an ideal opportunity for students to extend and develop their use of a personal reflective journal to record their ideas and perceptions in the development, execution and evaluation of the project.

The learning for this unit should be delivered through a studio environment or workshops and may be supported by educational visits, seminars and group discussion. Learning activities should be designed to develop the students ability to take responsibility for the direction and organisation of their own learning. Students should be encouraged to adopt a reflective and evaluative attitude at all stages in the completion of the project and demonstrate their ability to communicate and collaborate with their peers and professional staff.

Students should be encouraged to relate their own experiences to the work of other artists and performers.

A range of activities might include:
- Front of house activities
- Production meetings
- Stage management and organisation
- Costume and wardrobe supervision
- Staging, design and direction
- Warm-ups, read-throughs and rehearsals

- Discussion groups to analyse, consider and confirm ideas
- Peer and self-assessment.

Centres should adopt a delivery approach that supports the development of their particular students. The aims and aspirations of all students, including those with identified special needs, should be considered and appropriate support mechanisms put in place.

Methods of assessment and evidence of achievement
The unit will be internally assessed and internally and externally moderated against the unit outcomes and assessment criteria.

Evidence is not prescribed. It could typically include: personal reflective journals, workbooks, notebooks, research portfolios, digital recordings and witness statements of performance.

The unit may include a period of work placement to provide relevant experience for those students wishing to progress directly into employment.

The range of activities should facilitate student understanding of the range of progression opportunities available within performing and production arts education and employment, and how to organise and present themselves and their work to ensure effective communication to an identified audience.

A range of activities might include:
- Opportunities for work experience within a performing arts environment

Unit 12

Extended project (Level 3)

Indicative content, teaching strategies and learning activities

It is important to note that Unit 12 (Level 3) and Unit 13 (Level 4) have identical learning outcomes but different assessment criteria. It is anticipated that centres will deliver the learning for these units together. The assessment evidence submitted by the student will determine achievement at Level 3 or Level 4.

Centres delivering the qualification should support activities and assignments that will provide the learning necessary to enable the student to achieve the assessment criteria. Centres should ensure that individual student project proposals provide the learning necessary to be able to achieve at the highest level possible.

The unit aims to provide students with an opportunity to take significantly greater responsibility for their own learning by initiating, researching, implementing and evaluating a project proposal and realisation within a chosen professional context. The degree of self-direction that students will be required to display is in recognition of the educational model prevalent within Higher Education and in preparation for employment.

The choice of proposed subject, subsequent research and all relevant activity in support of the project will be defined by the student or student group in consultation with tutors.

Student support should be provided through normal tutorial or seminar sessions.

Students should be encouraged to be adventurous and open-minded in exploring and evaluating a range of activities and processes and to relate their own experiences to the work of other artists and performers.

Students should understand:
- A range of critical and contextual perspectives and approaches that can be used in the development of a project proposal
- The need for research that has relevance and appropriate depth and breadth to support the project development and realisation
- How to analyse and evaluate research evidence to inform and support ideas
- How to integrate practical, theoretical and technical understanding to realise the project
- How to maintain and use records of critical analysis and evaluation of the working processes leading to the realisation of the project
- How to articulate in an appropriate form an analysis and evaluation of the working processes which have lead to the realisation of the project
- How to use appropriate forms and techniques to present themselves and their work to an audience.

- How to use appropriate forms and techniques to present themselves and their work to an audience.
This unit requires students to produce a written project proposal of about 500 words. The proposal should address the following:

- A review of the students’ progress and achievement to date
- The project concept and rationale
- How the project will be evaluated and reviewed.

In addition, students should provide:

- A timetabled action plan
- A bibliography detailing all research sources.

All students will need to balance ambition, time and resources in the realisation of the project.

Collaborative projects will require not only the management of self, but the additional challenge of ensuring contributing partners and ensemble deliver their responsibilities to an appropriate standard within the agreed time-frame.

Centres should adopt a delivery approach that supports the development of their particular students. The aims and aspirations of all students, including those with identified special needs, should be considered and appropriate support mechanisms put in place.

Methods of assessment and evidence of achievement

The unit will be internally assessed and externally moderated through a student’s portfolio of evidence against the learning outcomes and assessment grading criteria.

The unit is graded Pass, Merit, Distinction and determines the overall grade for the Diploma. A student who submits evidence that fails to meet the assessment criteria will be referred.

Evidence is not prescribed. It could typically include:

- Records of planning, research and ideas development recorded in workbooks, digital format, notebooks or personal reflective journals
- Records of analysis and reflection including responses to peer, tutor and audience feedback.
- Records of project development including storyboards, visual development work, recordings of rehearsals, designs, media and artefacts
- Digital recordings of presentations and witness statements of performance.

This list is not exhaustive and students should be encouraged to develop the most appropriate evidence to demonstrate their achievement of the unit learning outcomes and assessment criteria.

Additional information

Centres must have the physical resources to successfully implement the programme including appropriately equipped and updated rehearsal studios and workshops, IT facilities and information and research sources. Centres must provide an appropriate level of access to dedicated general studios and an adequate flexible or open access provision in more specialist areas.
Unit 13

Unit 13

Extended Project (Level 4)

Indicative content, teaching strategies and learning activities

It is important to note that Unit 12 (Level 3) and Unit 13 (Level 4) have identical learning outcomes but different assessment criteria. It is anticipated that centres will deliver the learning for these units together. The assessment evidence submitted by the student will determine achievement at Level 3 or Level 4.

Centres delivering the qualification should support activities and assignments that will provide the learning necessary to enable the student to achieve the assessment criteria. Centres should ensure that individual student project proposals provide the learning necessary to be able to achieve at the highest level possible.

The unit aims to provide students with an opportunity to take significantly greater responsibility for their own learning by initiating, researching, implementing and evaluating a project proposal and realisation within a chosen professional context. The degree of self-direction that students will be required to display is in recognition of the educational model prevalent within HE and in preparation for employment.

The choice of proposed subject, subsequent research and all relevant activity in support of the project will be defined by the student or student group in consultation with tutors. Student support should be provided through normal tutorial or seminar sessions.

Students should be encouraged to be adventurous and open-minded in exploring and evaluating a range of activities and processes and to relate their own experiences to the work of other artists and performers.

Students should understand:

- A range of critical and contextual perspectives and approaches that can be used in the development of a project proposal
- The need for research that has relevance and appropriate depth and breadth to support the project development and realisation
- How to analyse and evaluate research evidence to inform and support ideas
- How to integrate practical, theoretical and technical understanding to realise the project
- How to maintain and use records of critical analysis and evaluation of the working processes leading to the realisation of the project
- How to articulate in an appropriate form an analysis and evaluation of the working processes which have lead to the realisation of the project
- How to use appropriate forms and techniques to present themselves and their work to an audience.
This unit requires students to produce a written project proposal of about 500 words. The proposal should address the following:

- A review of the students’ progress and achievement to date
- The project concept and rationale
- How the project will be evaluated and reviewed.

In addition students should provide:

- A timetabled action plan
- A bibliography detailing all research sources.

All students will need to balance ambition, time and resources in the realisation of the project. Collaborative projects will require not only the management of self but the additional challenge of ensuring contributing partners and ensemble deliver their responsibilities to an appropriate standard within the agreed time-frame.

Centres should adopt a delivery approach that supports the development of their particular students. The aims and aspirations of all students, including those with identified special needs, should be considered and appropriate support mechanisms put in place.

Methods of assessment and evidence of achievement

The unit will be internally assessed and externally moderated through a student’s portfolio of evidence against the learning outcomes and assessment grading criteria.

The unit is graded Pass, Merit, Distinction and determines the overall grade for the Diploma. A student who submits evidence that fails to meet the assessment criteria will be referred.

Evidence is not prescribed. It could typically include:

- Records of planning, research and ideas development recorded in workbooks, digital format, notebooks or personal reflective journals
- Records of analysis and reflection including responses to peer, tutor and audience feedback.
- Records of project development including storyboards, visual development work, recordings of rehearsals, designs, media and artefacts
- Digital recordings of presentations and witness statements of performance

This list is not exhaustive and students should be encouraged to develop the most appropriate evidence to demonstrate their achievement of the unit learning outcomes and assessment criteria.

Additional information

Centres must have the physical resources to successfully implement the programme including appropriately equipped and updated rehearsal studios and workshops, IT facilities and information and research sources. Centres must provide an appropriate level of access to dedicated general studios and an adequate flexible or open access provision in more specialist areas.

Section 1
Rationale
(Approx. 100 words)
Within this section you should reflect on, review and summarise your progress and achievements throughout the first 7 units of the qualification. It’s an opportunity for you to communicate the knowledge, skills and understanding you have acquired; what you know now, and what it means to you, compared with what you knew and could do before you started the course. You should also explain how this has influenced your choice of pathway and your project proposal.

Unit 8
Collaborative performance project
Guidance for students

In producing the project proposal, and in preparing for the project realisation, you should familiarise yourself with Unit 8 of the qualification.

In particular, you should understand the assessment and grading criteria which will be used to determine standards of achievement.

Unit 8 requires you to produce a project proposal of approximately 350 words (excluding the project plan and bibliography). Project proposals should not be so succinct that they do not address the requirements listed below, nor should they be excessively long and unfocused. Your project proposal should be sufficiently challenging to ensure you have the best possible chance of meeting the grading criteria.

The project proposal must be word processed and presented under the headings listed here.
Section 2
Project concept
(Approx. 200 words)
Here you should clearly explain the concept and aims of your project. Provide details on the research and ideas that will support its development and what you anticipate producing. You should also express the levels and types of resources that you will need, and an indication of the form in which you will complete and present your final realisation within the allocated timescale.

Section 3
Evaluation
(Approx. 50 words)
Explain how you will reflect on and evaluate your work as both an ongoing activity and at the conclusion of the project. You should describe how you intend to record your decision making, and how you will document changes to your ideas as the project progresses. The evaluation should reference your stated aims, and be reflective and analytical rather than a description of actions completed. When working in collaboration with others you should comment on how this may impact either positively or adversely, and explain the steps you might take to minimise disruption to your own progress.

Section 4
Project action plan and timetable
This section is an opportunity to outline your planning and organisation over a period of weeks, and the activities you will need to carry out in order to successful complete your project within the agreed time-frame. It is important that you consider how you will balance ambition, time and realism in the realisation of the project. This should include what you are going to do, how you will do it and by when. The more time and thought you give to planning your project the more successful it is likely to be. Remember to include time taken to undertake practical actions such as: sourcing materials, questionnaires and accessing workshops. You should also incorporate tutorial and peer group feedback, and where you will incorporate independent study. If working on a collaborative project, individual responsibilities and contributions will need to be clearly identifiable.

Section 5
Proposed research sources and bibliography
(Harvard format)
In this section you should record the initial research sources (both primary and secondary) that you intend to use. Your sources of research should be as wide reaching as possible, including: visits to museums galleries and theatres; libraries, books and magazines; films, TV and radio programmes; and online research sources. Where appropriate you should use the Harvard system of referencing. The bibliography should be continuously updated as the project progresses.
Guidance for students

Section 1
Rationale
(approximately 150 words).

This section provides you with an opportunity to reflect on, review and summarise your progress and achievements through the first 11 units, and the knowledge, skills and understanding you have acquired. What you know now, and what it means to you, compared with what you knew and could do before you started the course, and how this has influenced your choice of pathway and your project proposal. It also provides an opportunity for you to explain your reasons for choosing a particular pathway and to outline both your immediate and longer-term aspirations.

In producing the project proposal, and in preparing for the project realisation you should familiarise yourself with Units 12 and 13 of the qualification. In particular, you should understand the assessment and grading criteria which will be used to determine standards of achievement.

Units 12 and 13 require you to produce a project proposal of about 500 words, excluding the project action plan and bibliography. Project proposals should not be so succinct that they do not address the requirements listed below nor should they be excessively long and unfocused. Your project proposal should be sufficiently challenging to ensure you have the best possible chance of meeting the grading criteria.

The project proposal must be word processed and should contain the following:

- Project proposal template
- Centre name and number
- Student name and number
- Project proposal title and date
- Main area of activity/pathway, e.g. dance, drama etc.

Unit 12
Unit 13
Extended project
Guidance for students
Section 2
Project concept
(approximately 200 words).

This section provides an opportunity for you to clearly explain the concept and aims of your personal contribution to the extended project, production or performance, the research and ideas that will support its development, what you anticipate producing, the levels and types of resources that you will need and an indication of the form in which you will complete and present your final realisation within the allocated timescale.

Section 3
Evaluation
(approximately 150 words).

This section provides an opportunity for you to explain how you will reflect on, and evaluate, your work, as both an on-going activity and at the conclusion of the project. You should describe how you intend to record your decision-making and how you will document changes to your ideas as work progresses. The evaluation should be referenced to your stated aims and be reflective and analytical rather than a description of actions completed. When working in collaboration with others you should comment on how this may impact either positively or adversely and steps you can take to minimise disruption to your own progress.

Remember to include time taken to visit sources; sourcing materials, questionnaires, access to workshops, tutorial and peer group feedback opportunities and where you will incorporate independent study.

Proposed research sources and bibliography (Harvard Format)
This section provides an opportunity to record the initial research sources, both primary and secondary, that you intend to use. Your sources of research should be as wide as possible, including libraries, museums and galleries, books, theatre/film/video, magazines, TV/radio programmes, web sites etc. Where appropriate you should use the Harvard system of referencing. The bibliography should be continuously updated as the project progresses.
