

EPIC 10 Weeks - Additional Entry Criteria

Accepted reasons for not joining 13 week Preessional / supporting evidence required

If you meet the language entry requirements and if you can show that you have one of the accepted reasons below, you can apply to join the Exam Preparation Intensive Course (EPIC) 10 weeks. This is a special course for students unable to join 13 week Preessional for timing reasons. Please see the website for language entry requirements.

We accept the following reasons for being unable to enrol on 13 Week Preessional in time:

Reason 1

Educational commitments in your home country that prevent you coming to London for 13 week Preessional.

Supporting evidence required: official letter from your university / school. The letter must clearly state that you are required to attend your current course after 31 May 2019.

Reason 2

You received a main course offer from UAL after 1 April 2019.

Supporting evidence required: no evidence is required because UAL already has this information. However, you must still contact us for approval before submitting an application.

Reason 3

You tried to reach the required IELTS (or equivalent) score for entrance to 13 Week Preessional, but failed to get that score in time to apply for 13 Week Preessional.

Supporting evidence required: you must provide at least two IELTS (or equivalent) exam certificates from 2019 that show that you tried, but failed, to reach the required language level in time for 13 Week Preessional.

Exceptional circumstances

If you have different reasons to those listed above, it may still be possible (in exceptional circumstances) to apply for the course. In this case, please contact us at preessional-applications@arts.ac.uk, explaining the special reason for not applying to 13 Week Preessional, with evidence to support this request. We will consider your request and advise you further.
